Nude advanced cellular renewal serum, by Quadpack

Nude's worldwide bestseller Advanced Cellular Renewal Serum comes in an innovative glass bottle with dropper, developed by Quadpack UK. This organic serum corrects the signs of ageing using a unique three-way system to help the skin repair itself.

Having successfully developed the whole of its customised range, Nude returned to Quadpack to create a unique pack for this natural anti-ageing serum. Quadpack's expertise in dropper and glass components led to the conception of a luxurious bottle, tastefully decorated and with a highly-original pipette for precise delivery.

The pack has an aluminium silver collar, while the bottle uses a violet-to-transparent colour vignette to striking effect.

Nude's clinical research has proven that the probiotic formula provides a 70 per cent increase in cellular renewal, a 50 per cent reduction in cellular damage and a 35 per cent decrease in irritation.

Since its launch, Advanced Cellular Renewal Serum has seen overwhelming demand and is now available on pre-order only until December. Celebrity fans include Helena Christensen, Kim Cattrall and Uma Thurman.
