Metal-armoured airless for Valmont's™ time-defying formul

According to Valmont, time turns into an ally with its Time Master Intensive Program. In 28 days, this poly-active program regulates the mechanics of skin cells and reverses the course of time. The new supercharged formula is protected by Yonwoo airless technology in an aluminium-sheathed pack developed by Quadpack.

The airless pack has a pump and bottle cap constructed of PP for optimum product compatibility. A white aluminium casing envelops the pump, adding weight and a sense of prestige to the product. Decorated with Valmont's brand identity, white and green colours are screen printed onto the casing.

The pack features a window to allow consumers to have a constant view of the use of the product. Through the window and through the transparent PP bottle, the consumer can see the piston right up to the final use of the product.
