Yonwoo's Ampoule programme for home spa treatments

It's called DIY beauty: consumers are demanding the option to enjoy spa treatments at home. From prestige to mass market, this growing lifestyle trend is a real opportunity for cosmetics and cosmeceutical companies who want to get in early. Yonwoo's airless Ampoule Program offers an ideal delivery system that is smart, easy-to-use, refillable and travel-friendly.

The Ampoule Program is a set of medical-looking vials that can be used for single or series of treatments, such as intensive serums, scalp treatments or anti-ageing skincare plans. The formula benefits from the protection of airless technology, shielding it from external contamination. Unlike disposable glass ampoules, these packs can be refilled for multiple uses, making it both environmentally-friendly and more economical for consumers.

The Ampoule Program is perfect to enjoy a real pamper session at home. To use, the inner bottle is pressed through a thumb slot at the base of the pack, releasing a 0.15cc dose of product. This is applied directly to the treatment area using a cooling metal roller ball that glides smoothly over the skin.

Decoration possibilities are countless, including colour matching, silk-screening and hot-stamping. Designers can take advantage of the structure, using the inner and outer bottles for a high-tech dual-wall look.

Made of PETG, with a PP inner, the 4ml vials are not breakable and are small enough for travel.
