High-end formula protection for Skeyndor's Retinol range

The new Retinol range from Spanish premium brand Skeyndor delivers the regenerative properties of retinol. This purest form of vitamin A ensures its intensive rejuvenation effect on wrinkles and dark spots.

The three products in the range are housed in a Yonwoo airless pump and barrier tube, for optimum protection of the hard-working formulas. Quadpack developed the packaging, aiming to match high performance with a luxurious look and feel.

Skeyndor Retinol Intensive Repairing Serum-in-Cream is contained in Yonwoo's 30ml Solid PP bottle with airless dispenser. The polypropylene container offers excellent compatibility, while the airless system protects the formula from oxidation and external contamination.

Skeyndor Power Retinol Intensive Repairing Cream and Intensive Repairing Emulsion both come in Yonwoo's 50ml Luxefoil tube. As well as airless technology, the tube has an aluminium layer which effectively blocks out light. The inner foil acts as a barrier to light, gas, and moisture and is impermeable to organic and chemical substances.

The packs are colour-matched white, with text screen printed in black and the range's signature aquamarine. The caps have a metallic coating in the same attractive colour. Together, the Retinol products convey an elegant, coherent look that matches the brand's credentials of scientific cosmetics.

Skeyndor's products are aimed at the cosmetic professional and are sold worldwide at beauty centres, spas, and Skeyndor's own stores.
