Frezyderm revisits Yonwoo's test tube-shaped Show Bottle

Greek pharmaceutical company Frezyderm has once again chosen Yonwoo's Show Bottle for its Velvet Face Sunscreen SPF30 and SPF50. Developed by Quadpack, it revisits the striking design of its range of premium OTC skin care treatments. This pack combines Yonwoo's airless protection with a test tube shape that inspires consumer confidence.

The Show Bottle has a spherical bottom, showcased through a transparent outer base. With an inner bottle and actuator made of recyclable polypropylene, it offers excellent compatibility with Frezyderm's high-performance sunscreen. Patented airless technology protects the product's integrity and makes it capable of dispensing the high-viscosity formula with ease.

The PP inner bottle has been colour-matched white, with a clear SAN outer. A white PP actuator is framed by an ABS collar, metallised gold for a bright sunny look.

Quadpack has already developed the Show Bottle for Frezyderm's Anti-Wrinkle Eye Cream, Eye Balm, Revitalising Serum and a range of moisturising, sun protection and anti-ageing treatments.
